

Contents

Preface	xvii
Acknowledgments	xix
Part One: Lawyers and the Legal Landscape	1
1. Overview of the Lawyer's Role	3
I. Writing and a Lawyer's Roles	3
II. Overview of a Civil Case	5
III. Ethical Duties	8
IV. Legal Citation	10
A. Plagiarism	10
B. When to Cite	11
2. Sources of Law, the Common-Law Process, and Weight of Authority	15
I. Sources of Law	15
A. The Structure of Court Systems	16
II. The Functions of Trial and Appellate Courts	19
A. The Functions of Trial Courts	19
B. The Functions of Appellate Courts	19
III. The Common-Law Process	20
A. Stare Decisis	21
B. Holdings	21
C. The Breadth of Holdings	22
D. Holdings Versus Dicta	25
IV. The Weight of Authority	27
A. Primary Authority Versus Secondary Authority	27
B. Mandatory Authority Versus Persuasive Authority	28
C. Other Characteristics Affecting the Persuasive Value of Cases	30
Part Two: Reading and Analyzing the Law	33
3. Reading and Synthesizing Cases	35
I. Introduction to Reading Cases	35
II. Introduction to Case Briefing	36
III. Tools for Finding New Information About the Rule	37
IV. Synthesizing Cases	38
A. Using Consistent Cases	38
B. Reconciling Seemingly Inconsistent Cases	39
4. Interpreting Statutes	47
I. Reading Statutes	47
II. Identifying Issues	50
III. Interpreting the Statute's Language	51
IV. Interpreting Statutory Language: Canons of Construction	53

5. Forms of Legal Reasoning	55
I. Rule-Based Reasoning	55
II. Analogical Reasoning: Analogizing and Distinguishing Cases	56
III. Policy-Based Reasoning	58
IV. Principle-Based Reasoning	59
V. Custom-Based Reasoning	59
VI. Inferential Reasoning	60
VII. Narrative	62
Part Three: Writing the Discussion of a Legal Question	65
6. The Writing Process and Law-Trained Readers	67
I. The Writing Process	67
II. Law-Trained Readers	71
A. Focus on the Reader	71
B. Attention Levels	72
C. Road Maps	73
D. Readers as Commentators	74
E. Judges as Readers	74
F. Law Professors as Readers	77
7. Large-Scale Organization: Creating an Annotated Outline	79
I. Outlining a Rule: Rule Structures	79
II. Creating an Annotated Outline	84
A. The First Level: The Legal Questions You Have Been Asked to Address	85
B. The Second Level: Governing Rules	85
C. The Next Levels: Filling in the Rules	86
D. Omitting Issues Not in Dispute	87
E. Uncertainty About Which Rule Your Jurisdiction Will Adopt	87
F. Annotating Your Outline	88
8. Small-Scale Organization: Explaining the Law	89
I. An Overview of the Paradigm for Legal Analysis	89
II. Stating the Conclusion	90
III. Stating the Governing Rule	91
IV. Explaining the Rule: Five Components	92
V. Guidelines for Rule Explanation	93
VI. Organizing a Pure Question of Law	95
9. Small-Scale Organization: Applying the Law	101
I. Two Approaches to Writing the Application Section	101
II. Content of Rule Application	102
III. Common Trouble Spots in Rule Application Sections	103
IV. Evaluating Your Draft	107
10. Discussing Multiple Issues: Putting It All Together	109
I. Ordering for Your Reader	110
A. Accounting for Elements Not at Issue	110
B. Selecting an Order for the Remaining Issues	110
II. Umbrella Sections	111
III. The Conclusion	114

IV. Editing Subsection Lengths	115
V. Variations of the Multi-Issue Paradigm	115
11. Deepening Your Analysis	119
I. Using Policies and Principles in Rule Explanation	119
II. Using Analogical Reasoning in Rule Application	122
A. Deciding Which Similarities and Differences Are Significant	122
B. Choosing a Format for Your Case Comparison	123
III. Using Factual Inferences in Rule Application	126
Part Four: Predictive Writing	129
12. Writing an Office Memo	131
I. The Function of an Office Memo	131
II. An Overview of the Office Memo Format	131
III. Drafting the Heading	133
IV. Drafting the Question Presented	133
V. Drafting the Brief Answer	137
VI. Drafting the Fact Statement	139
A. Fact Selection	140
B. Organizing the Fact Statement	141
C. Remembering Your Role	142
VII. Drafting the Conclusion	143
VIII. Writing an E-Memo	145
13. Writing Professional Correspondence	149
I. General Characteristics of Professional Correspondence	149
II. Advice Letters	152
III. Special Considerations for E-mails and Texts	153
A. E-mails	153
B. Texts	158
Part Five: The Shift to Advocacy	161
14. Introduction to Brief Writing	163
I. Ethics and the Advocate's Craft	163
II. Judges, Briefs, and Persuasion	166
III. The Components of a Trial-Level Brief	168
IV. The Components of an Appellate Brief	171
15. Questions Presented and Persuasive Headings	175
I. Writing the Question Presented	175
II. Persuasive Headings	180
A. Identifying Point Headings	180
B. Drafting Point Headings	182
C. Editing Point Headings for Readability and Persuasion	185
D. Identifying Subheadings	188
E. Formatting of Headings	189
16. Writing the Argument Section	191
I. Arguments for Different Kinds of Legal Issues	191
A. A Pure Question of Law	191
B. An Issue of Statutory Interpretation	192
C. An Issue of Common Law Case Synthesis	192

D.	A Case of First Impression in Your Jurisdiction	193
E.	Seeking a Change in the Law	194
F.	An Issue Applying Law to Fact	194
II.	Honing Your Argument for the Court's Role	195
A.	The Trial Judge	195
B.	Appellate Judges and the Appellate Process	195
III.	Reminders About Organization	196
IV.	Using Case Comparisons to Support Your Argument	199
V.	Rebutting Your Opponent's Arguments	201
VI.	Using Legal Theory to Sharpen Your Arguments	202
17.	Standards of Review	203
I.	Categories of Trial Court Decisions	203
II.	Advocating for a More Favorable Standard of Review	207
III.	Conforming Headings to the Standard of Review	208
18.	Writing a Statement of Facts	211
I.	Fact Ethics and the Conventions of Statement of Facts	212
A.	Fact Ethics	212
B.	The Conventions of a Statement of Facts	212
II.	Developing a Theory of the Case and Selecting Facts	214
A.	Developing a Theory of the Case	214
B.	Selecting and Citing to Facts	216
III.	Organization	216
A.	Formats	216
B.	Subheadings	217
C.	Procedural History	217
IV.	Techniques for Persuasion	218
A.	General Principles	218
B.	Large-Scale Organization	219
C.	Paragraph Organization	220
D.	Techniques with Sentences	220
E.	Other Small-Scale Techniques	222
Part Six: Style and Formalities		229
19.	Citations and Quotations	231
I.	Citation in Legal Writing	231
II.	Citation Form	233
A.	Using the ALWD Guide to Legal Citation	233
B.	Using the Bluebook	235
C.	Several Key Concepts	236
D.	Introduction to Citation Form	237
E.	Matching the Citation to the Text	239
F.	Citing with Style and Grace	241
G.	Editing Citation Form	243
III.	Quotations	249
A.	When Quotation Marks Are Required	250
B.	Choosing to Use Quotation Marks	251
C.	Overquoting	251
D.	The Mechanics of Quoting	253
E.	Editing Quotations	254

20. Paragraphs, Sentences, and Style	257
I. Paragraphing	258
II. Choose Strong Subjects and Verbs	261
A. Active Voice	261
B. Nominalizations	262
C. Throat-Clearing	264
D. Sentences Beginning with Forms of “It Is” or “There Is”	264
III. Avoiding Wordiness	265
A. Revise Phrases That Can Be Replaced by a Single Word	265
B. Avoid Legalese	266
C. Avoid Redundancies	267
D. Avoid Matched Pairs	267
E. Avoid Intensifiers	267
IV. Other Characteristics of Good Style	268
A. Keeping the Subject and Verb Close Together	268
B. Avoiding Long Sentences	269
C. Unnecessary Variations	269
D. Parallelism	269
V. Gender-Neutral Writing	270
A. Techniques for Nouns: Elimination or Substitution	271
B. Techniques for Pronouns (They, Them, Theirs, She, He, Hers, His)	271
C. Techniques for Proper Names and Titles	273

Part Seven: Oral Advocacy 275

21. Oral Argument	277
I. The Purpose of Oral Argument	277
II. Formalities and Organization	278
A. Timing	278
B. Preliminary Formalities	278
C. The Appellant’s Argument	278
D. Argument of Co-Counsel for the Appellant	279
E. The Appellee’s Argument	280
F. Argument of Co-Counsel for the Appellee	280
G. Concluding the Argument	280
H. Rebuttal	281
I. Oral Argument in Trial Court	281
III. The Content	281
A. The Standard of Review	281
B. The Burden of Proof	282
C. The Trial-Level Procedural Posture	282
D. Themes	282
IV. Preparation	283
A. The Record	283
B. Outline Your Argument	283
C. Prepare Your Folder	284
D. Script the Entire Opening, the Conclusion, and Your Prepared Rebuttal	284
E. Practice	284
F. Visit the Courtroom	285
G. Be Prepared to Conduct an Oral Argument Virtually	285
V. Handling Questions from the Bench	285
A. Anticipate Questions	285
B. Attitude	285

C. Recognize Types of Questions	286
D. Listen Carefully to the Question	286
E. Clarify the Question	286
F. Begin with a Clear, Direct Answer	287
G. Returning to Your Prepared Presentation	287
H. Handling Questions on Your Co-Counsel's Issue	287
I. Handling a Question for Which You Do Not Have an Answer	287
J. Agreeing When You Can	288
K. Referring to Earlier Questions or Comments from the Bench	288
VI. Presentation	288
A. Dress	288
B. Body, Hands, and Eyes	288
C. Voice	289
D. References	289
E. Nervousness	289
 Appendices	 291
Appendix A Sample Office Memorandum	293
Appendix B Sample E-Memo	299
Appendix C Sample Trial-Level Brief	301
Appendix D Sample Appellate Brief	307
Appendix E Sample Informal Advice Letter	323
Appendix F Cases	327
 Index	 333